DEDICATION

To our parents who, since first we were born, have taught us to hold fast to the truth and see the good in man kind; who have lifted us when we were low and have steadied us upon our trying journey through life, we dedicate this book.

FOREWORD

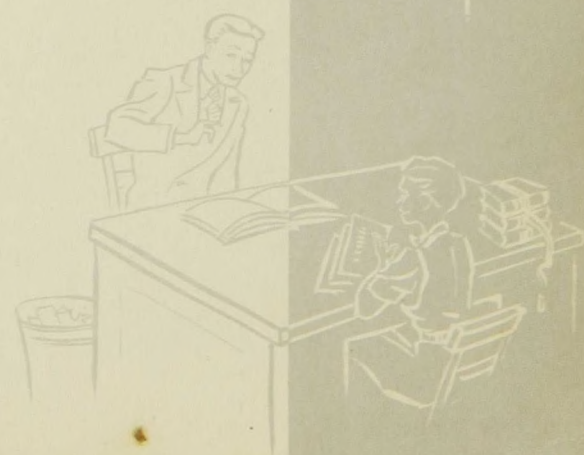

Within the covers of this first Olive Branch we hope to point out in words and pictures, just what seemed to us the high-lights of the school term and in the class history you can see that, as this past term, the years have been both work and play.

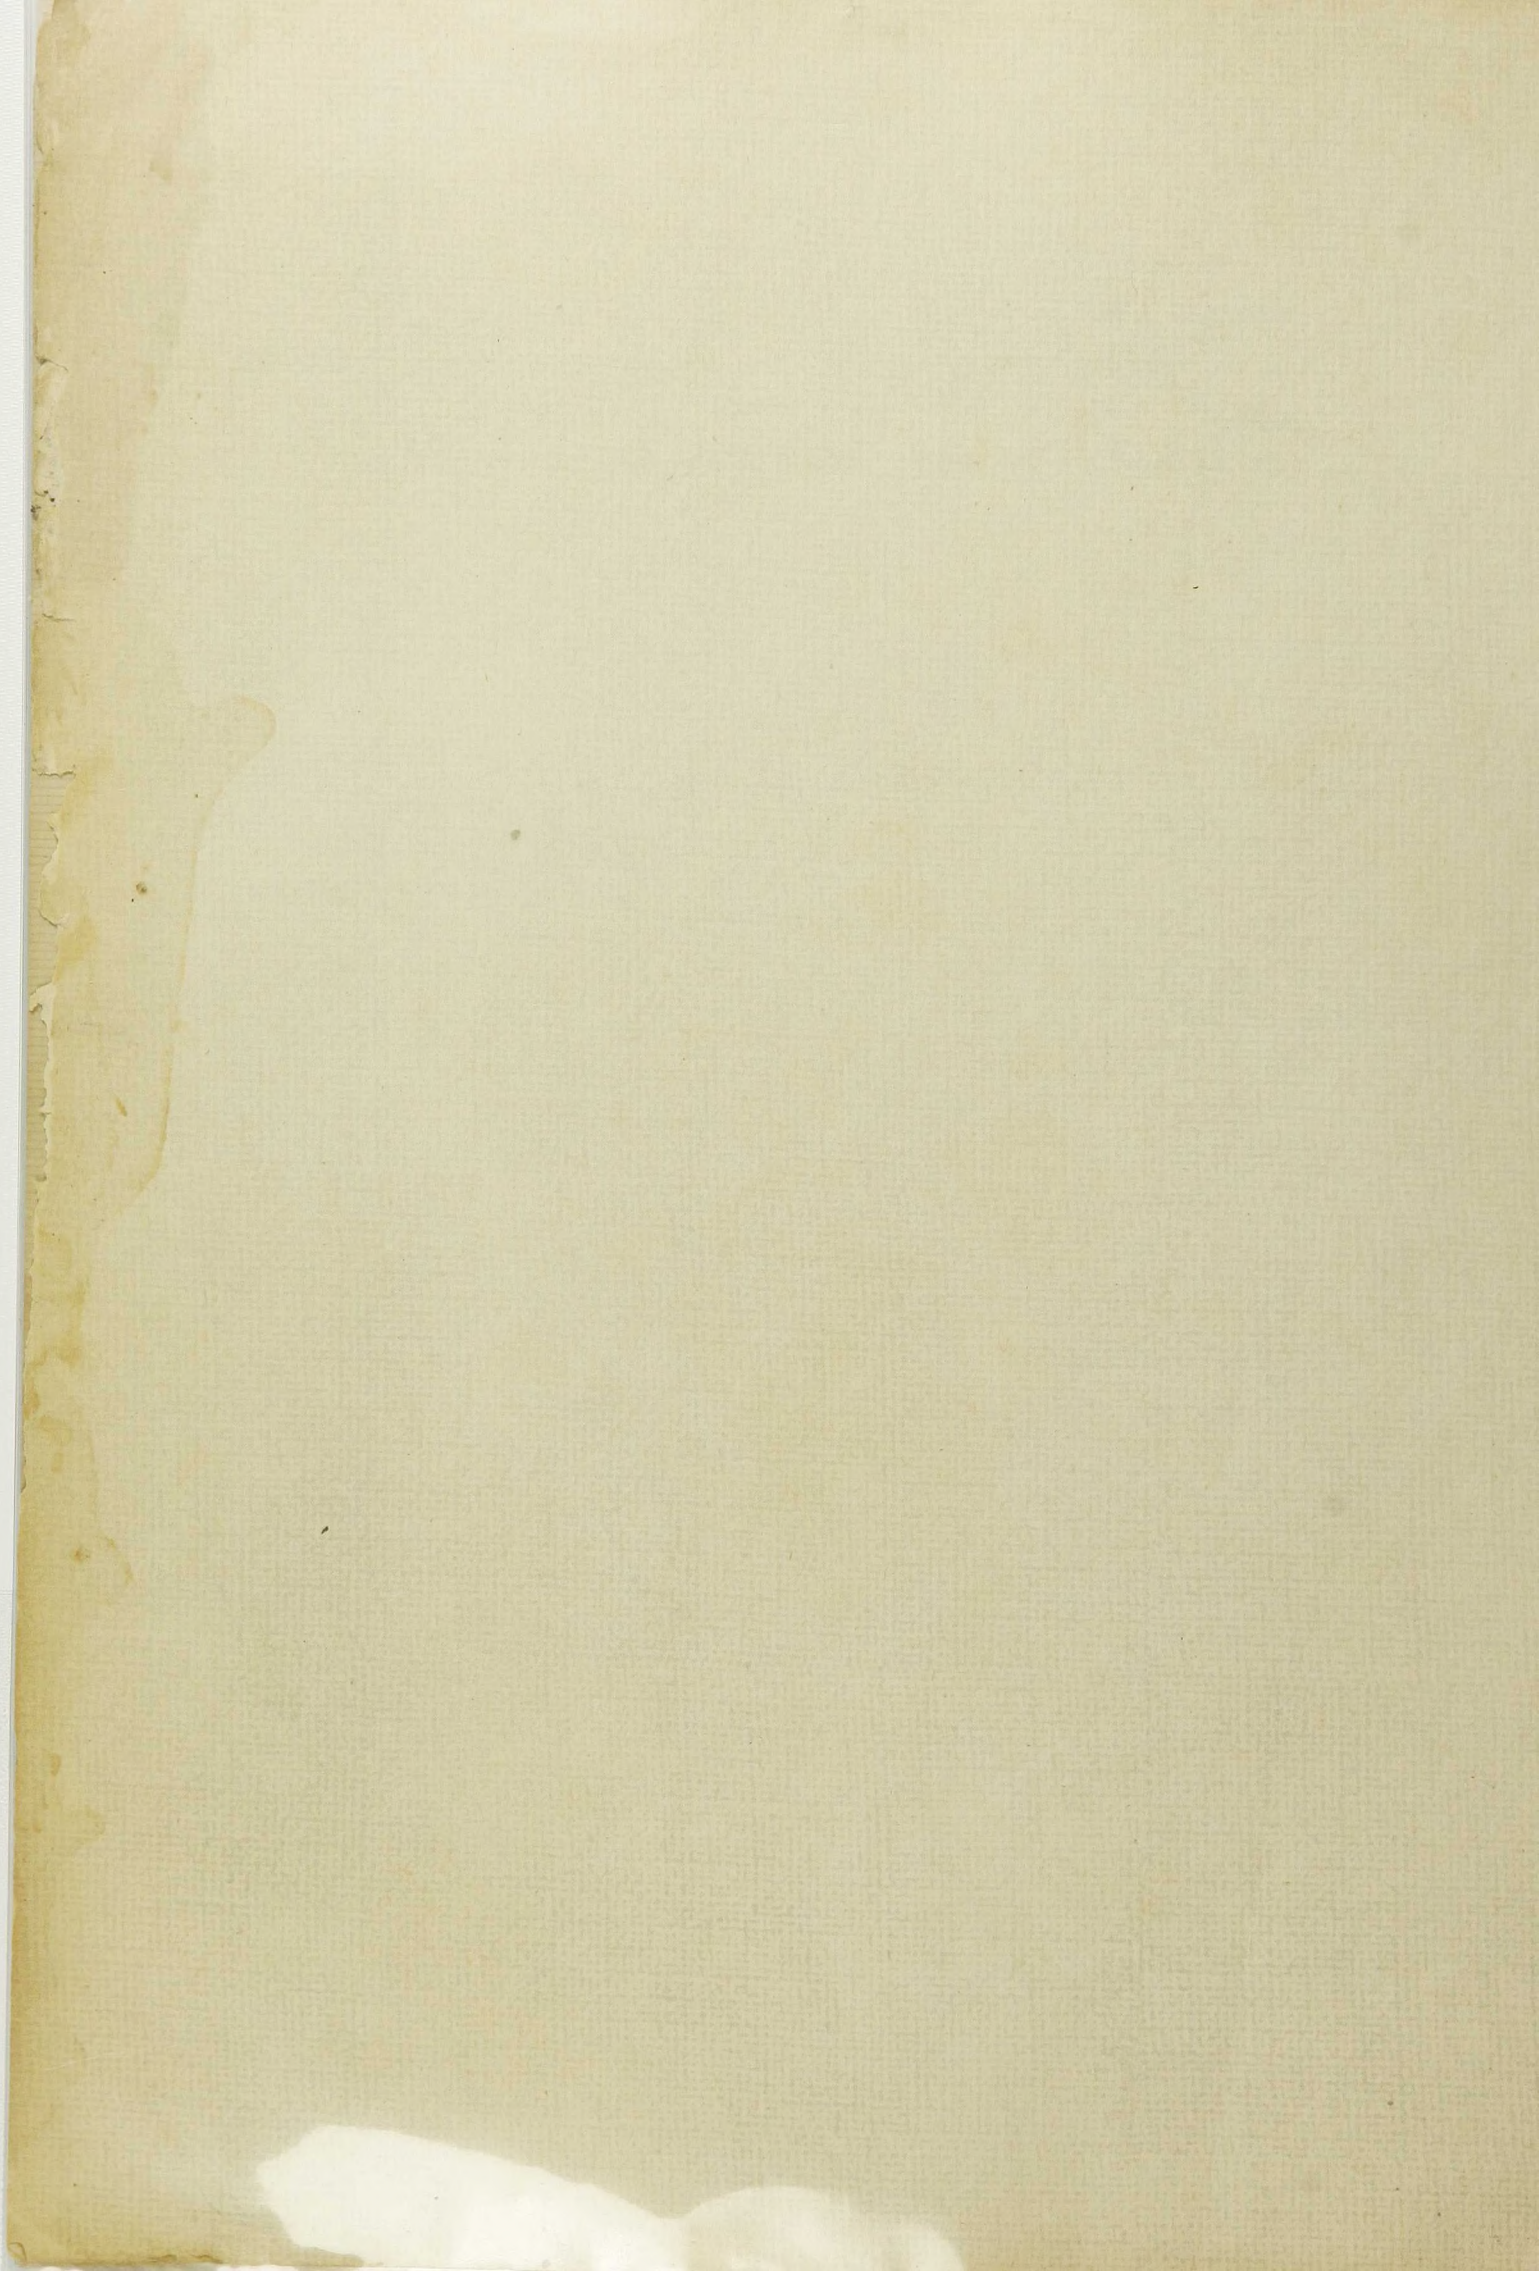

This annual is being edited by the Class of '48 and its two sponsor teachers. You will find pictures of everyone enrolled in school and everyone who is in anyway connected with school. It has not been our intention to omit anyone.

We would like to thank all the merchants, alumni, who have helped finance this book, and anyone else who has helped in any way.

We've enjoyed editing the Olive Branch and hope you will enjoy its contents.

Going--we hope---
Seniors

The month of May rings down the curtain on a class who will be graduated with the knowledge that it has been a typical representative group of New Carlisle High.

Once green recruits, we have developed into a class that has furnished more than its share of leaders in athletics, dramatics, scholarship, and literary work. We are more than proud of the harmonious co-operation among class members. And as we look back on the years, we discover friendships that we will cherish all our lives. N.C.H.S. has given them to us.

As freshmen we became acquainted with the routine by receiving a rough initiation from the seniors. We did not enter into activities until our sophomore year. We elected Gene Levan as our president. In the fall we had a hayride. Jack Palmer, a lad of magnetic personality, was chosen to lead us through the junior year where there were so many definite goals to be obtained. The magazine sales were successfully sponsored as our first real money raising activity, along with pop and ice cream that we sold at the basketball games. "It's all In Your Head", a three act comedy, starring Bruce Sharp and Gladys Meyers and coached by Mr. Manes, revealed the dramatic ability possessed by the class.

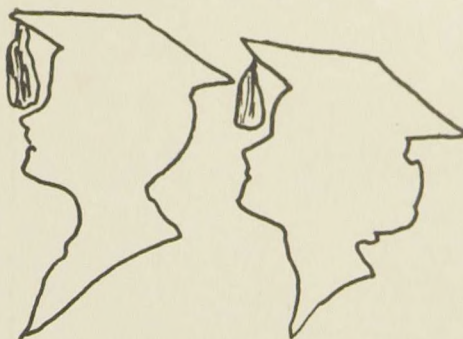

"Sadie Hawkins" was a clever dance sponsored by the class. we wound up with the Junior-Senior Prom, an occasion not soon to be forgotten, for it was held in the Spaulding Hotel in Michigan City.

When senior officers were chosen, Gene Levan was again elected president. The three act comedy, "Miss Jimmy" was probably one of the most successful in the history of class plays. Mrs. Troeger coached the production.

Doctor Preston Bradley was selected as the Commencement speaker.

All these various intimate contacts and association will serve as inspirations in the days to come.

Gratitude may well be expressed to the sponsors: Mr. Marvel, Mr. Eslinger, Mr. Manes, Miss Broadhurst, Mr. Stutsman, and Mrs. Troeger for their excellent guidance and co-operation during our past four years.

VERSTILE JUNIORS

The jolly juniors stepped into the line right this season with a display of their versatility.

The class selected Russell Flatt as their president. He was assisted by Mickey Hooton, Vice President; Julianne Young, secretary; Jimmy Agness, treasurer; Arlene Cronkhite and Ralph Taelman, student council members. With this fine group to head them, the class started a pace that would put any human out of breath. With vim and vigor they began to cure their main ailment--finances. The first step was an immense one which covered their first attempt at dramatics, "FOOT LOOSE" was a success both dramatically and financially. Mr. Manes coached the production.

This was followed by a magazine drive and by selling pop and ice cream at the basketball games and taking care of the parking.

Among these juniors who displayed hardwood strength are Agness, Flatt, Taelman, Hooton, Cowham, Sarber, Barnhart, Robbins, and Thompson.

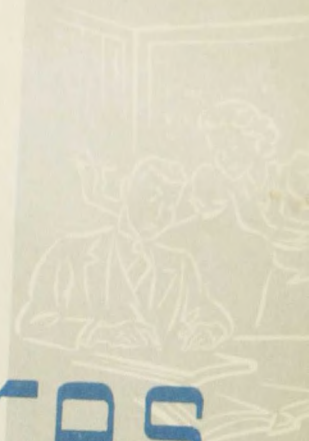

One of the cheerleaders was Donnie Haag, a member of this class.

Many of the juniors were on the honor and merit roll.

The Annual Junior-Senior Promenade was a gala affair, the most expensive dance of the school year, the success of which was due the Junior class, for the Seniors were guests of honor.

The success of the class was largely in the hands of such capable sponsors as Miss Broadhurst and Mr. Manes.

Front row: J. DuBois, M. Modjeska, V. Smith, J. Szmanda, M. Milliken, J. Tarr, J. Dunn, H. Harrington, S. Dolph, Second row: W. Osborn, J. Colburn, B. Barker, E. Snodgrass, J. McPherson, M. Those Sophisticated--Sophomores

Having outgrown that slightly green lustre which makes the freshman classes, these veterans of two years have acquired that certain polish gained by the experience of high school activity.

The class elected Bill McPherson, president; Bob Garoutte, vice president; Joanne McPherson, secretary; Ruth Anne Smith, treasure; Mary Milliken and John Zdankus, Student Council members.

The sophomores have many financial worries before them such as their plays, a Junior Prom, and later the Senior activities. With the strong executive board, looking far into the future, their first money making device was a public roller skating party at the Playland Rink. Later the class entertained themselves with a "Treasure Hunt."

Scholarship is always looked upon as one of the outstanding principles of class character. The Sophomores have held scholarship to the high levels of their other accomplishments, as is proved by Charlotte Alm, Ruth Anne Smith, Maurice Tuttle, and Jean Marie DuBois.

A brilliant outlook for the future of varsity squads can be predicted with such materials as Don Niedbalski, "Butch" Garoutte, Benny Stopczynski, Mickey Wiggins, Charles Zoph, Richard McKay, John Zdankus, and Ray Jasinski.

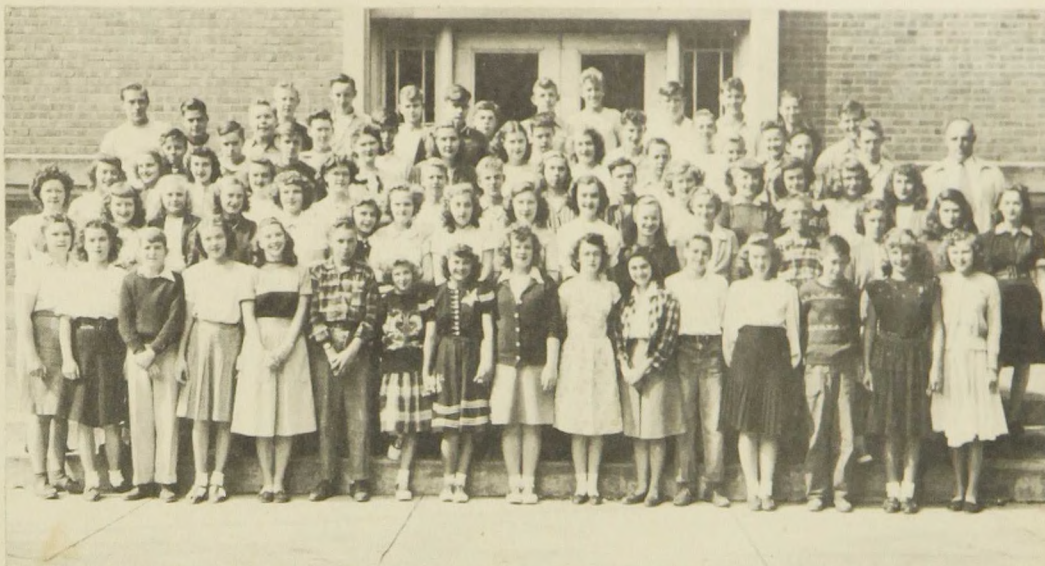

One of the Yell leaders, Mary Milliken is a member of this class.

The class activity among the girls was the new club, Glamour Manner.

The class operates under the watchful eyes of Mrs. Crouch and Mr. Greenwalt, its sponsors.

The Freshmen

The freshmen class, under the sponsorship of Mrs. Ekstrom and Mr. Marker began their school year with its total enrollment of 79. This is the largest freshmen class ever enrolled in New Carlisle.

Donald Wiggins was chosen president. Other officers were Charles Carbiener, vice-president; Junior Stopczynski, secretary; Stuart Clark, treasurer; Lee Gregory, and Adeline Rzepka, student council members.

A hayride party given by the seniors in honor of the "Freshies" after the initiation inaugurated the activities of the year. During the year, to make money for the treasury, the "Freshies" sponsored a "Sadie Hawkin's" dance. For enjoyment the class had a skating party at Playland Park. Everyone had a hilarious time except Bob Barker who had the misfortune to break his arm.

MARCHING BAND

The marching band is the most spectacular unit of the music department. It consists of those members of the concert band not on the first string or reserve basketball team. It puts on exhibitions at games and leads civic parades, such as the annual Memorial day parade.

JUNIOR BAND

The junior band is a preparatory unit for the concert band. It consists of those students capable of performing easy band music. Some younger members of the concert band play in this organization too in order to attain the general musicianship it provides. Students in grades five and six are automatically in the junior band unless they are outstanding enough to play in the concert band.

BEGINNERS BAND

All third grade children are required to start on a song flute (pre band instrument.) After six weeks of training members are chosen to play in the song flute band in which the children learn the first fundamentals of music.

Upon entering the fourth grade the children are given a musical aptitude test and those rating the highest marks are urged to start on the actual band instrument. This fourth grade group forms the personnel of the beginners band.

The two front rows above are the song flutes and the back row shows the beginners band.

HIGH SCHOOL CHORUS

This singing organization consists of those students who like to sing and can work this class into their daily schedules. The chorus presents concerts with the band and takes active part in the annual Christmas program. The group received high honors in both district and state competition festivals last year.

SOFTBALL 1947-48

Under the direction of our coach O. A. Shaw, the New Carlisle, team had a fairly successful season. They finished the year with three winnings and three losses, but were picked as the most improved team in the county.

The team will lose many Seniors but can look forward to a good season next year, because of the excellent caliber of the Junior players.

More of the team's success was due to the fine playing of Palmer, our regular first sacker, and to Stayback, our shortstop. Other members who deserve credit are Levan, Gadacz, Agness, Flatt, Sharp, Hooten, and Zoph.

Looking at the team a little early in the season and reviewing last year's results this writer predicts that our team, always a threat to any track crown and under the capable direction of Coach O. A. Shaw, will be outstanding in most of the field and track events.

We have a top notch man in the hurdles, "Chuck Zoph," a sophomore. Levan and Gadacz look good in the dashes. For distance runners there are Mark Hooten and George Degler.

The field events will be strong too. Jimmy Agness is doing the high and broad jumps. The Quarter mile will be run by Russell Flatt.

All in all, it looks like New Carlisle is on her way up.

"Miss Jimmy", a three--act farce by Joan Provence, was presented by the class of '48 in the high school auditorium March 18 at eight o'clock.

Everyone enjoyed this lively farce which is full of amusing situations and clever wise-cracks. "Miss Jimmy" dealt with the laugh-provoking adventures of Jimmy, a college youth, who entered the dormitory of an exclusive girls' school in search of a dress.

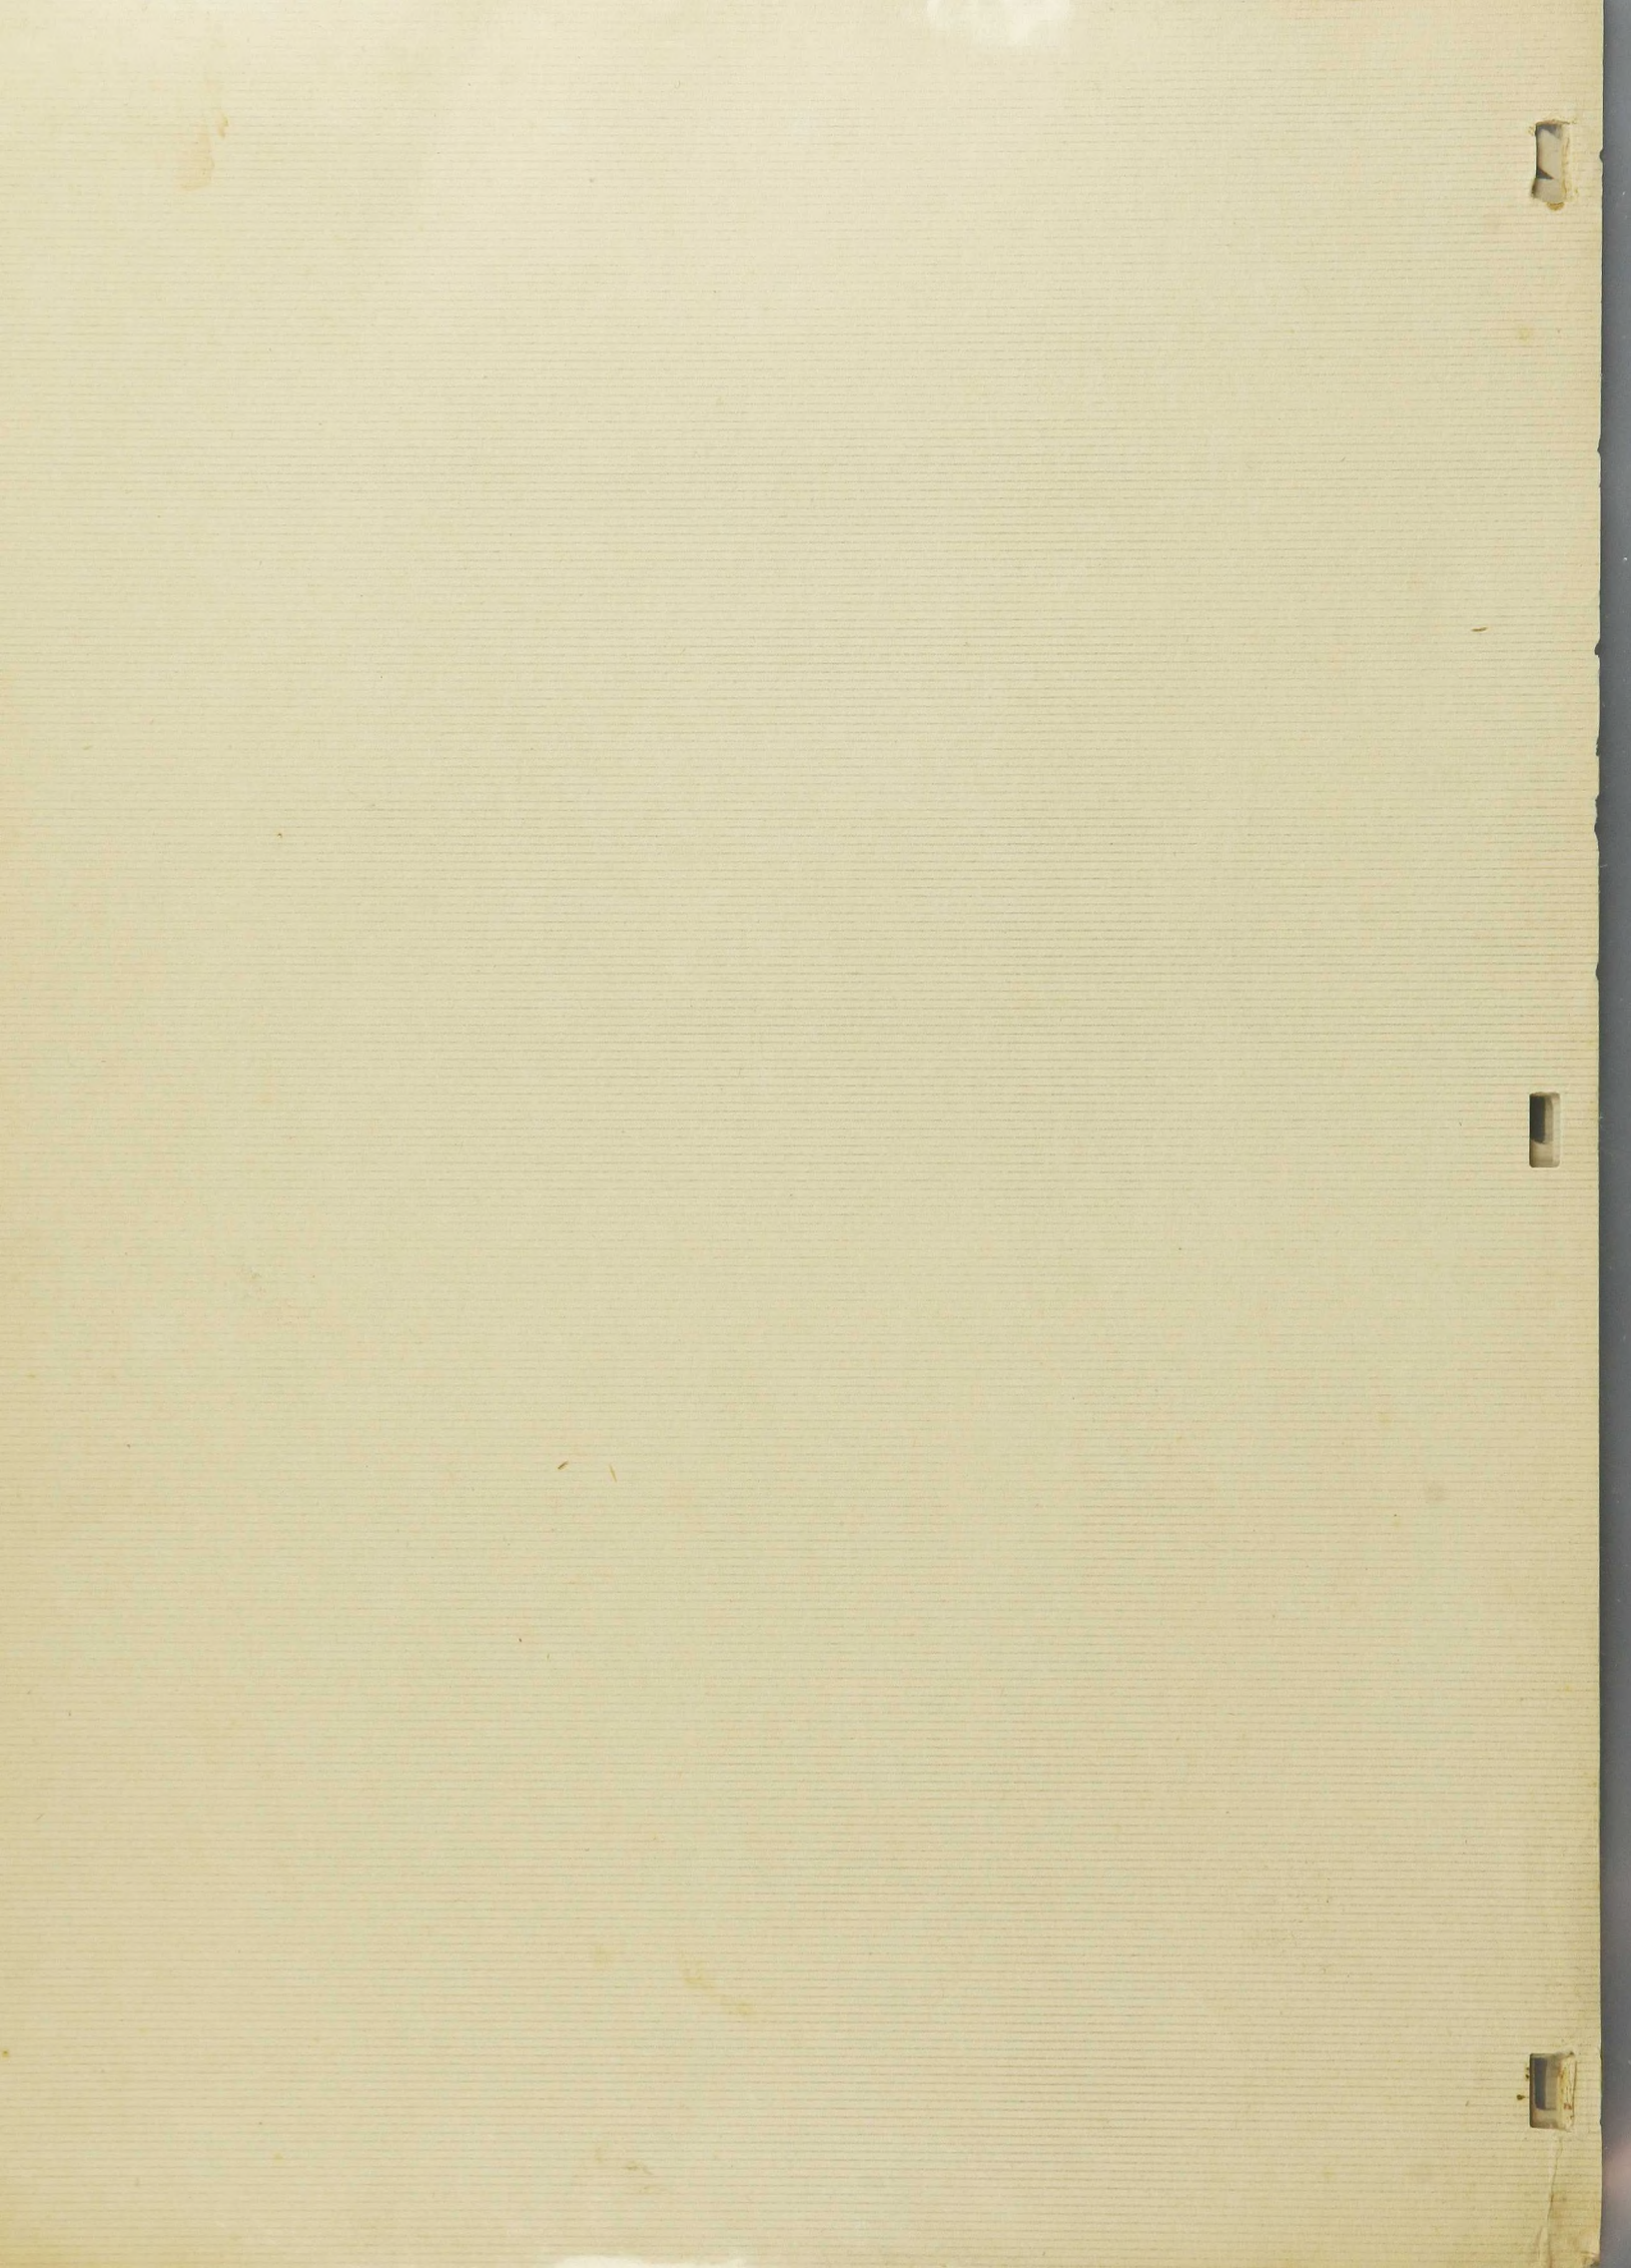

Gladys Meyers and Walter Wilson portrayed the parts of Louise and Jimmy.

Patsy Clark had the part of Florence, Louise's wise-cracking roommate; Katherine Zdankus was Catherine; Modelle Tolmen was Doris; and Marilyn Kern was Harriet. The role of Miss Watkins, the dean of the college, was played by Dorothy Modjeska.

Droopy, the colored janitor, was taken by Bruce Sharp. Jack Palmer had the part of Professor Frazier, who had an English accent.

Marcella Miller served as prompter. Wilhelmina Troeger was the director of the play.

Joe Stayback and Gene Levan were stage managers; Gene Levan also Business Manager, was assisted by Rita Jedrzejewski. The rest of the seniors helped by being on various committees.

Sitting:

Julie Young, Katie Kratz, Jane Szmanda, Joyce Shoue, Thelma Fetterer, Sharon Poland, Elizabeth Morgan.

Standing:

Gene Lauver, Mark Hooton, Ralph Taelman, Russell Flatt, Jim Agness, Dennis Casaday, Herbert Thompson.

FOOT LOOSE

Junior Class Play

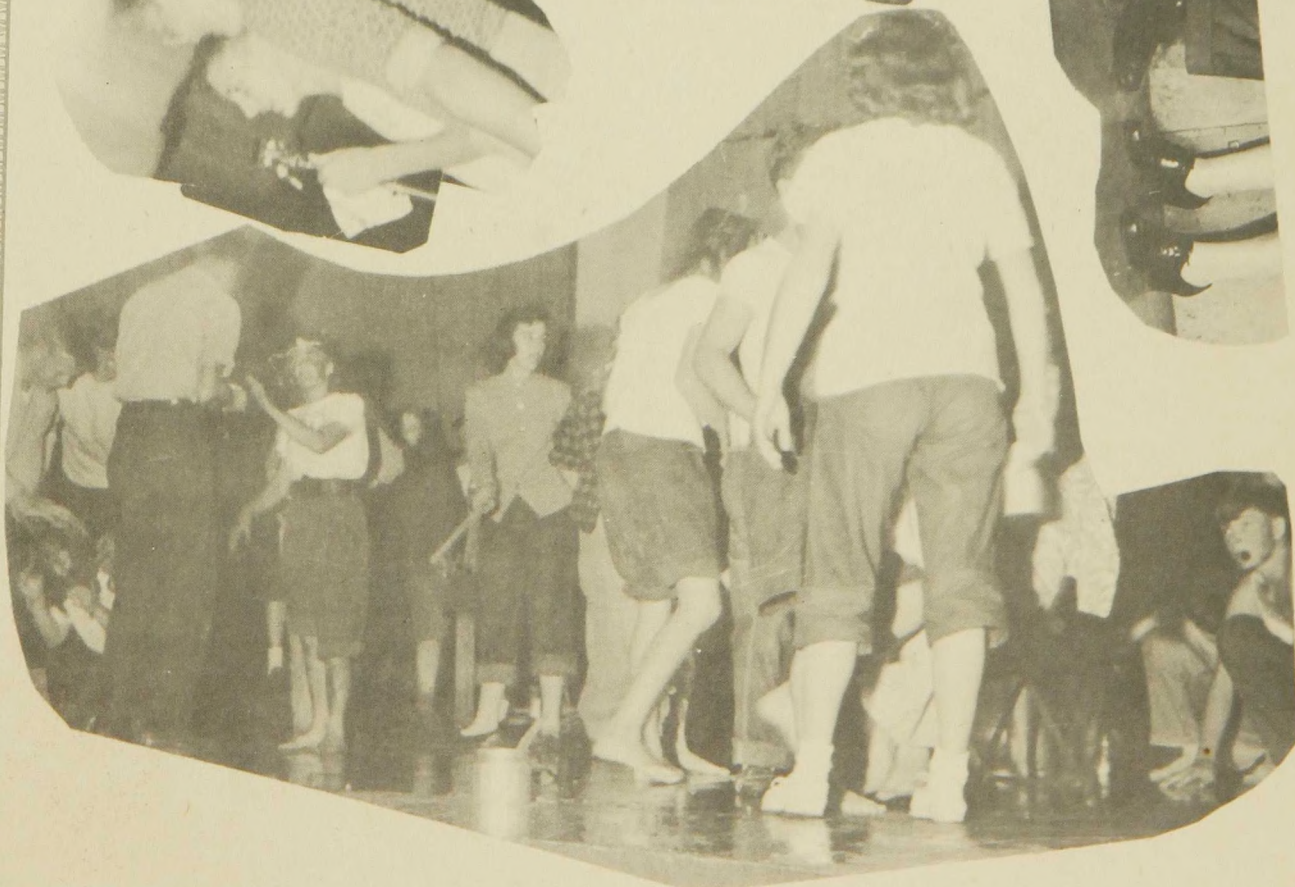

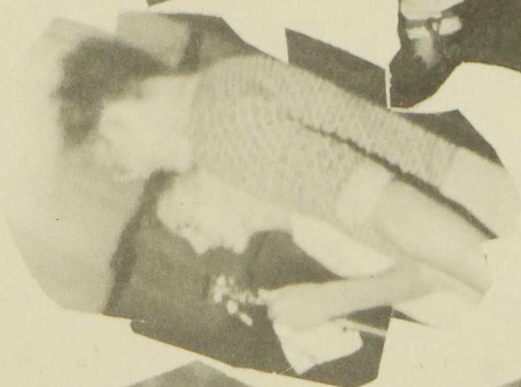

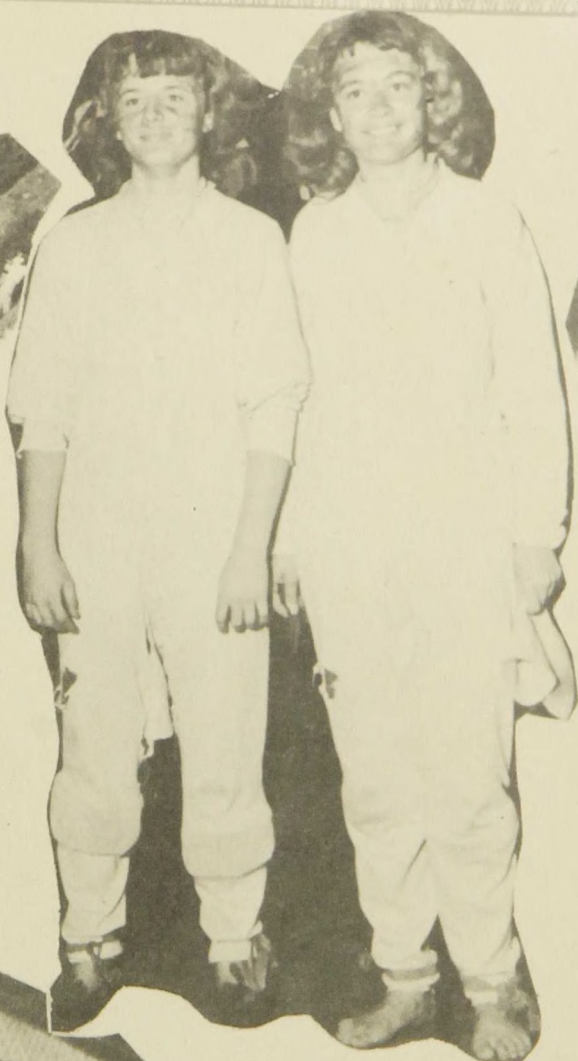

The junior class selected for their presentation the three act comedy, Foot Loose by Charles Quimby Burdette.

The plot concerned Emily Early, a doting mother, who because of her actions causes her four children to rebel. Mary and Bob, the two youngest, do most of the complaining until Dick, a senior in medical school, sets off a real explosion by announcing his plans of marriage before finishing school. Emily uses every argument in the books against him but to no avail.

The children plan a vacation cruise for their parents and persuade them to go. The difficulties these children encounter while their parents are away are many, such as, Bob and his best pal smash into a car, the maid gets pneumonia, and to top it off they run out of money.

The parts were taken by Elizabeth Morgan, Sharon Poland, Jim Agness, Mark Hooton, Julie Young, Herbert Thompson, Joyce Shoue, Katie Kratz, Ralph Taelman, Gene Lauver, Russell Flatt, Jane Szmanda, Thelma Fetterer, and Dennis Casaday. The play was directed by Mr. J. C. Manes.

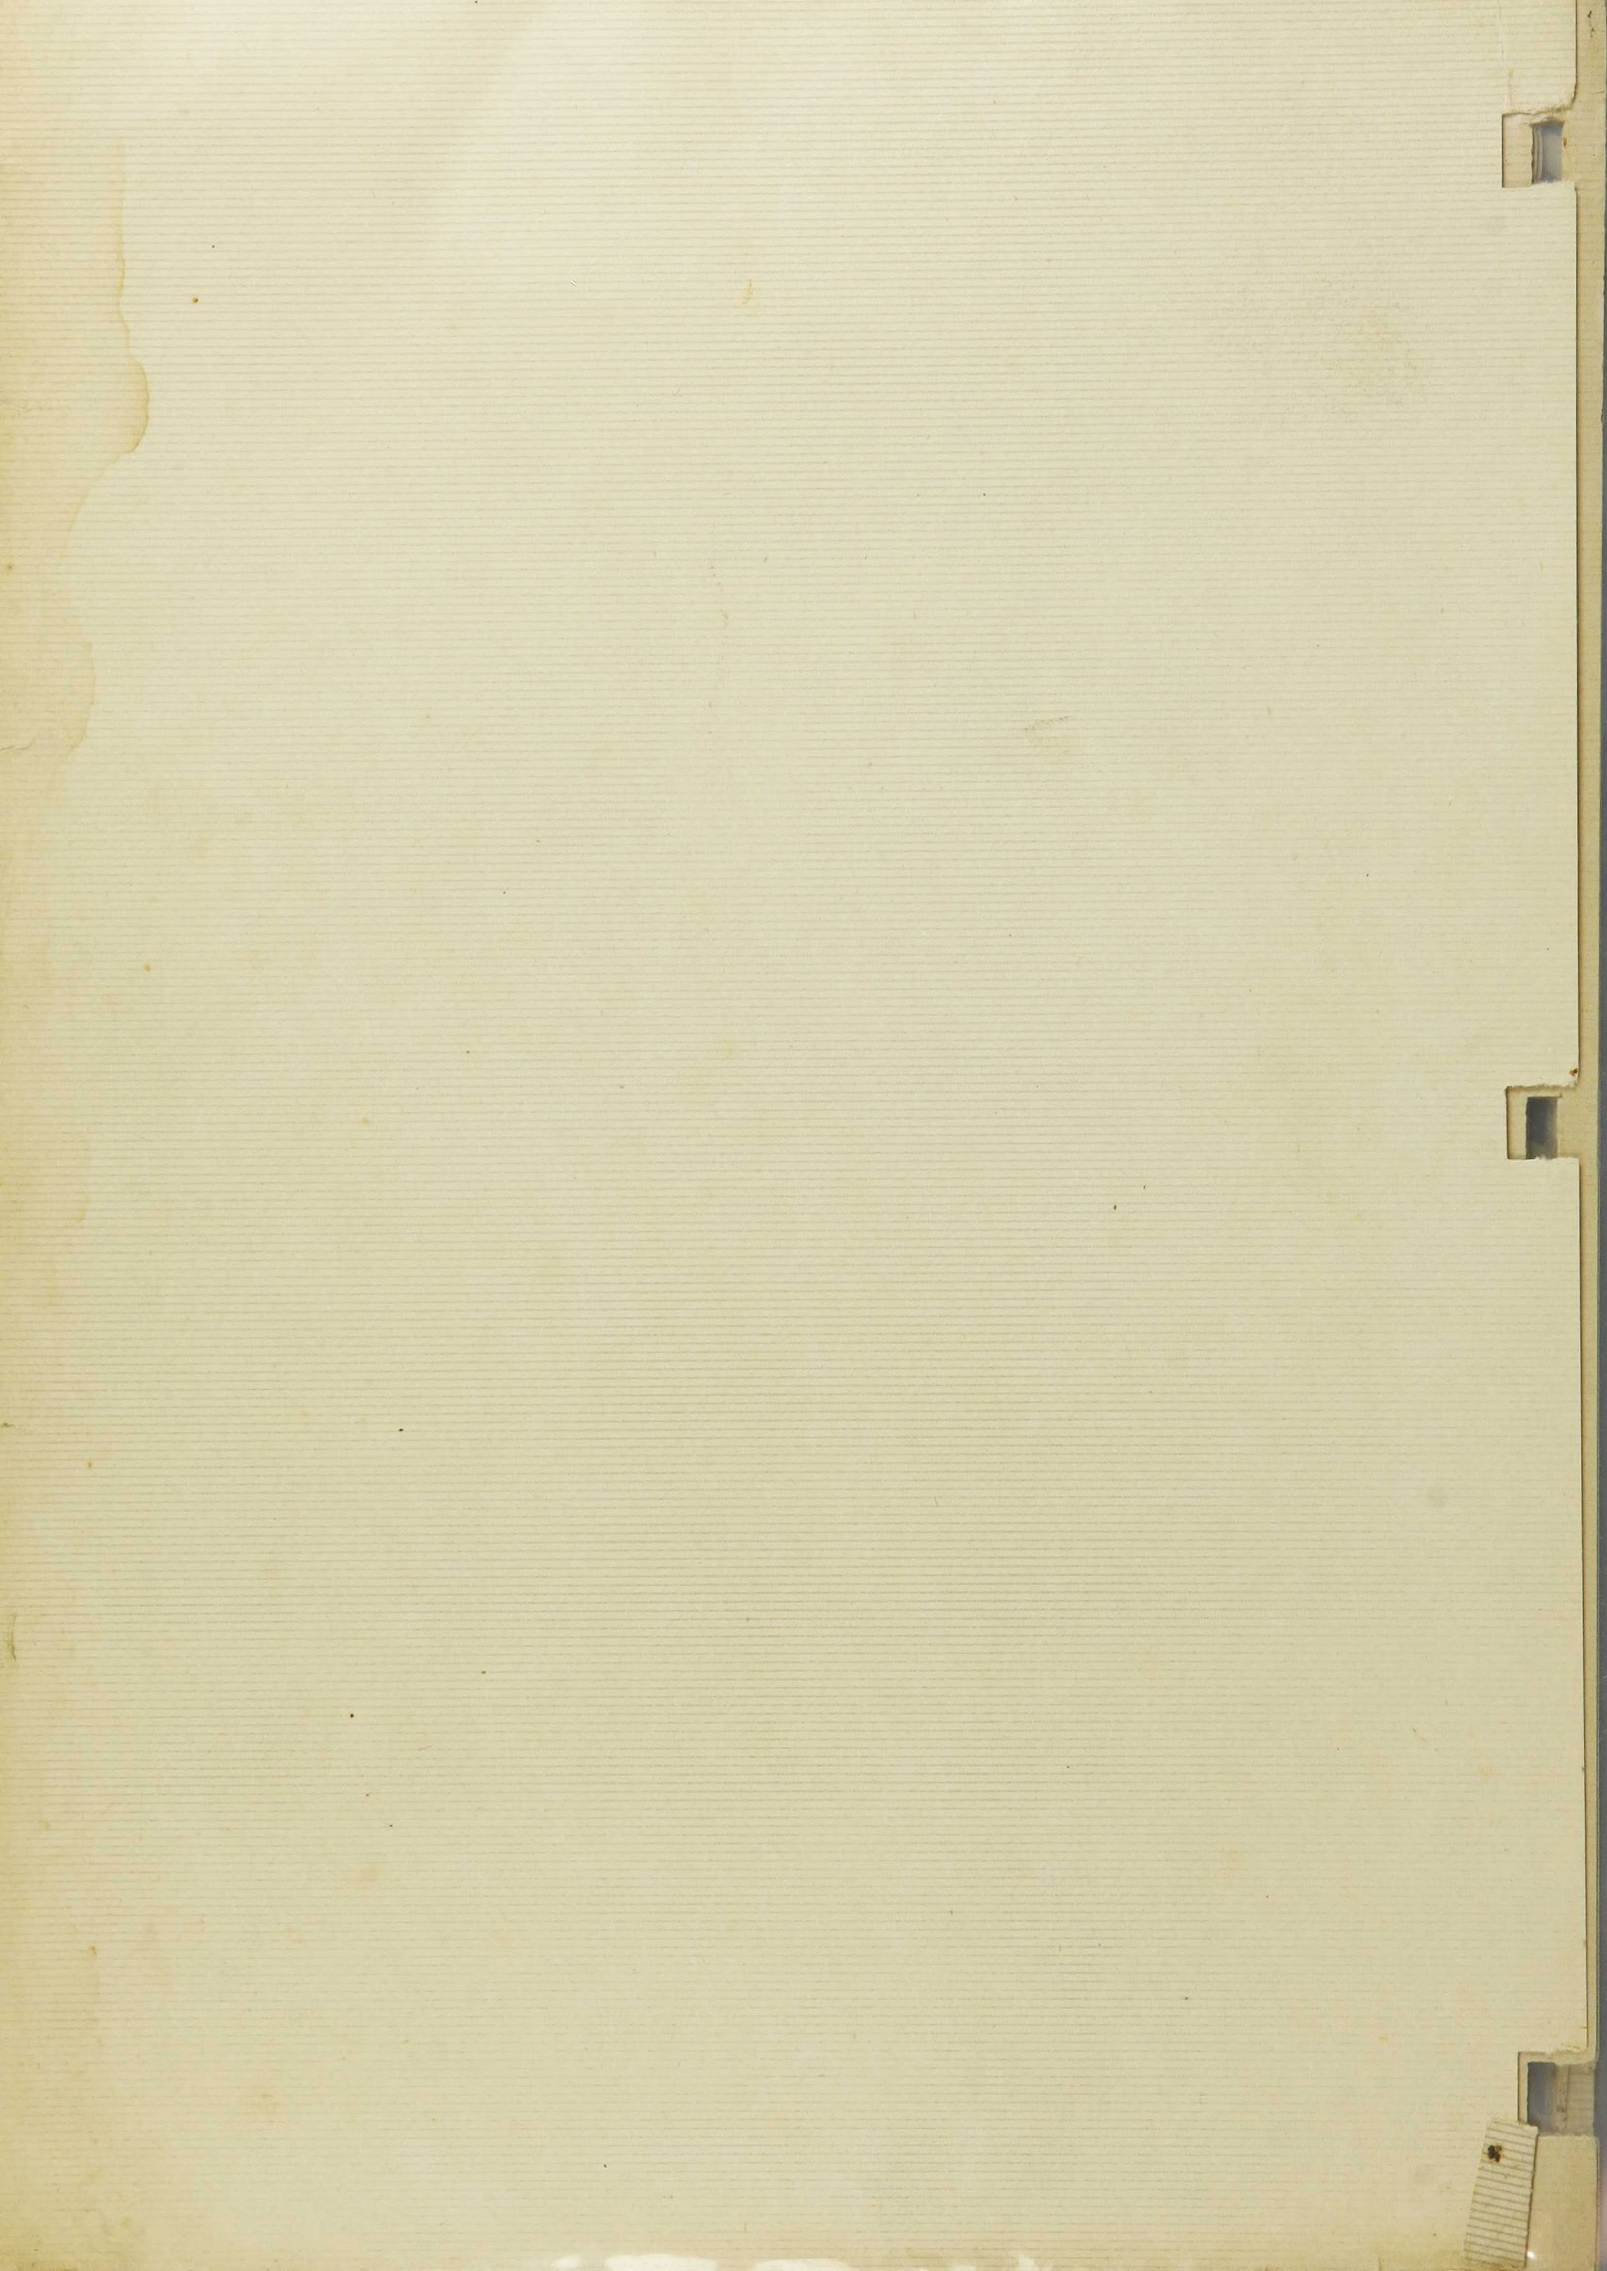

WARREN E. WARD, TRUSTEE

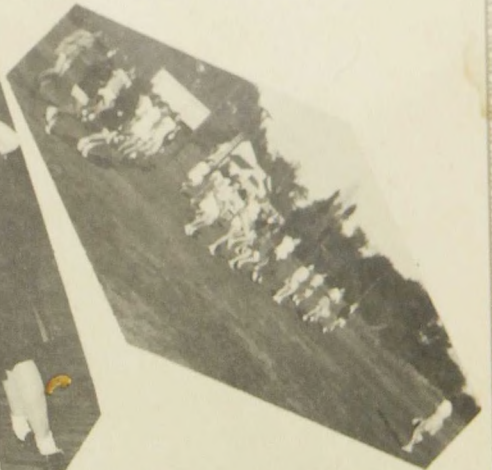

Mr. Ward has been the Trustee of Olive Township for six years. He has served well and conscientiously in his duties and the students, teachers, and township people sincerely appreciate his successful work.

WEBSTER R. CARR, PRINCIPAL

Mr. Carr, who for five years has been principal of the New Carlisle Schools, tries to make everyone whom he meets feel that he is his personal friend. All types of problems and duties are managed by Mr. Carr with the accomplished finesse one would expect from this pleasant, cooperative man.
